

Concerning the half time show at the Super Bowl . . .
While I found Ms. Jackson's behavior reprehensible, it was only complementary to the overall crass, rude and generally low brow "entertainment" provided by CBS/MTV. I found the entertainers crotch grabbing, mock sexual antics and offensive lyrics highly distasteful. I expect this type of garbage on late night cable but not during what is supposed to be "family" programming. Exactly who's "family" was this supposed to be indicative of, the Bundy's? When is a line going to be drawn?
Are we to be subject to continual degradation of the standards of behavior that this type of program engenders? Fine them. Fine them all. Fine them heavily.
